“THE PROBLEM WITH PEOPLE WHO HAVE NO VICES IS THAT YOU CAN BE SURE THEY’RE GOING TO HAVE SOME PRETTY ANNOYING VIRTUES”

ELIZABETH TAYLOR,
AMERICAN ACTRESS (1932)

You’re at Montpeliers so I guess we can pretty much assume you have at least one vice so lets not worry about annoying virtues. Instead let’s concern ourselves with choosing a great wine & making the most of what has to be world’s oldest (bar one) & most enjoyable vice.

Forget the descriptions that don’t mean anything to you & follow the grapevarieties that you like, explore different styles from the same grape or go for a wander & try something totally new. Wine is all about the characters, whether it’s the character of the land, the winemaker or the grape, a wine can tell a story so just let the wine do the talking.

SAUVIGNON BLANC

Sauvignon's natural home is in the Loire Valley in central & Eastern France. The crisp, herbaceous style is epitomised by Sancerre & Pouilly Fumé but the pungent aromas & easy drinkability of Sauvignon have found it friends all over the globe. New Zealand was first to pick up the baton & the ripe tropical, guava characters of Cloudy Bay helped the Kiwis become the number 1 white wine seller in Australia - that's got to stick in their throats!

PINOT GRIGIO

Does it need an introduction? Easily the most popular variety currently, Pinot Grigio (or Pinot Gris) calls Alsace home but it's in Italy that it has really found fame. Easy drinking, not too challenging but very happy company for a night out, Pinot Grigio is the great all-rounder.

CHARDONNAY

Chardonnay is very much the chameleon grape variety, changing its appearance & character depending on where it is grown, who makes it & how much time & love (not to mention money) is lavished upon it. Having been raised in the rarefied atmosphere of Burgundy, Chardonnay grew up, went to seed a little bit during its rock n roll years but is now back on form.

AROMATICS

Fancy something fragrant & pretty? Look no further... Some would argue that this category includes the world’s greatest variety, Riesling so don’t be fooled by it’s chequered past. Racy, limey & brilliant with spicy food, Riesling really demands another chance. Getting in on the aromatic act is the spicy, exotic Torrontes from Argentina.

ODDBALL WHITES

Step off the beaten track, worn down by weary Pinot Grigio & Sauvignon drinkers & join the merry band of the oddballs. A motley crew that despite its varied make-up includes some of the greatest, most eclectic whites in the world.

ROSÉ

Gone are the days when only ladies drank Rosé – get in touch with your feminine side chaps & find out what you've been missing. No longer is Rosé the haven of the indecisive, now it is the confident choice of those who know that some of the most exciting, funky wines out there are pink. Stay safe with Pinot Grigio Rosato or travel to Spain where Rosado is a speciality & the wines are characteristically ebullient .

CABERNET & MERLOT

Arguably the grape varieties that make the worlds greatest red wines, these two varieties work equally as well independently as they do happily ensconced in bed together. Cabernet's rather angular jaw line & intense, brooding nature make it the natural hero whilst Merlot is all front – perhaps not the intellect or depth but what it lacks in brains it more than makes up for in good looks, ample curves & head turning cleavage.

SHIRAZ

Baking in the heat of the Rhone valley, France's Syrah still makes some of the most profound wines in the world but for most people, Syrah is all about Shiraz... the new world moniker for this beast of a variety. Ranging from youthful spicy & succulent all the way through to huge, dark & concentrated, Shiraz shot to fame as the grape behind many of the Aussies most important wines. It's pretty widely travelled too with exciting Rhone ranging wines springing up all over the globe.

ONE CHAIN VINEYARDS, "THE WRONG UN" SHIRAZ CABERNET, SOUTH EASTERN AUSTRALIA	19.95

ANGELS SHARE SHIRAZ, TWO HANDS WINES, MCLAREN VALE – AUSTRALIA	38.95

PINOT NOIR

If you ever see a winemaker sat deep in thought, or possibly head in hands crying, he's probably been making Pinot Noir. To some the holy grail, to others the only light they see at the end of the Pinot tunnel is that of an oncoming train. Fickle, shy yielding & decidedly enigmatic, Pinot Noir can also be the most beautiful ethereal & sensuous of grape varieties. Who ever said that nothing good in life is simple?

SHERWOOD ESTATE PINOT NOIR, MARLBOROUGH – NEW ZEALAND	28.50

RIOJA & TEMPRANILLO

The breathtakingly beautiful region of Rioja in Northern Spain uses Tempranillo, amongst others, to make its supremely elegant, savoury reds. Called all sorts of names across Spain, Tempranillo is not only the work horse of Spanish wine but also the prize pony. Increasingly sought after elsewhere, Tempranillo's smooth as silk berry fruit & thoroughly charming manners have made it friends wherever it goes.

ODDBALL REDS

Who wants to be normal – it's totally over-rated. Take a walk on the dark side & try something a little more exotic. We've got Garnacha from a flying Scotsman, Malbec more meaty than a Gaucho's BBQ & a Norwegian owned Chilean wine that even sounds odd.

PUDDING WINES

If you can, save a little space for dessert with a cracking wine. Alternatively, skip the dessert & just have the wine! From the tangy, orange laced Torrontes to the incredible rich, sticky toffee pudding in a glass that is Gluttony. Treat your taste buds with these luscious delights.
